DETAILED ACTION

Papers Received

Receipt is acknowledged of the applicant's amendment, response, petition for extension of time, and request for continued examination, all received on 17 December 2004.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

The rejection of Claims 19-37 under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Nishihara is maintained.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 17 December 2004 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Although the applicant has more clearly defined the scope of the instant claims by the present amendment, it is the position of the examiner that this present amendment still does not render patentability unto the instant claims. First, although the scope of the aqueous mixture to be used in the instantly claimed has been narrowed, the overall process still allows for additional steps, where one could add additional components, as evidenced by the use of the word "comprising" in the second line of Claim 19 and Claim 30. Additionally, Claims 28 and 29 also show that the overall process may have additional steps where other components are added in the instantly claimed process.

Secondly, the burden is on the applicant to prove that the presence of the shark-derived collagen would be detrimental to the function of the product made by the instantly claimed process. As the prior art has shown a process that broadly contains the same method steps to produce a composition to be used for medical purposes, it is the position of the examiner that the prior art still makes obvious the instantly claimed process. Thus, all pending claims remain rejected.
